CONTRIBUTION OF EXHIBITIONS IN IMPROVEMENT OF TRADE & TECHNOLOGY IN GRAIN SECTOR IN AFRICA

- Radeecal Communications has played a pioneering role in developing corporate-level exhibitions that connect Africa's agricultural sector. In the history of exhibitions, after the success of Agritec Africa (An International Exhibition on Agriculture Technology), we are set to bring you the 9th Edition of Graintech Africa an International Exhibition on Grain and Grain Milling Technology.
- The Grain Technology advancement-oriented exhibition & conference is to be held on 09,10 &11 JUNE 2027
- East African countries need great attention on Trade platforms to get investments for development to improve grain producibility & mobility
- East Africa has limited proper infrastructure for the growing need in the grain industry and this platform gives it great exposure to grow to the international level.
- Africa has great potential to grow huge amounts of grain to meet international standards and as well needs proper processing technology to deliver results in time. Therefore, this opportunity can give great support to expand and enhance their businesses resulting to maximum outcome.

WHY KENYA?

- Kenya has dealt with numerous post-harvest losses due to poor grain handling, including poor storage and poor sanitation, and thus the Government is encouraging the private sectors to come up with various technologies to improve their current situation.
- Kenyan Government earlier came up with "Vision 2030" which will bring in huge investment opportunities for the companies worldwide.
- The Economy of Kenya is largest by GDP in East and Central Africa and USDA forecasts an increase in Kenya's corn, wheat and rice production in consecutive way.
- The Government will invest in generating reliable data to strengthen knowledge management and support the private sector. This data will help identify areas with the highest post-harvest losses, understand their causes and guide the development of appropriate and targeted solutions.
